

Sonia Mousavere

Communications, Public Affairs and Sustainability Country Lead | Bayer Hellas

Sonia Mousavere started in 1995 her professional career in the pharmaceutical industry. Having acquired distinct positions in production initially, and then in sales, marketing training and communication departments of large multinational companies, she gained valuable experience and deep knowledge of the operation, needs and challenges faced by the pharmaceutical companies in our country. In 2006 she joined Bayer Hellas, expanding her experience in new fields such as Cosmetics and Agriculture. She is leading the department of Communications, Public Affairs & Sustainability and she is responsible for the corporate communication portfolio, Corporate Social Responsibility program, the local accelerator Level-up and the coordination of the company's relations with the general public and stakeholders.